

Door Components is a custom fabrication shop that is set up to fill the needs of just about any wall condition that you encounter. From nail flanges to double egress, Door Components is prepared to make the frame profile that you need when you need it.

Our skilled and experienced engineering department is ready for the challenge to make any custom profile you may require (some restrictions apply to fire rated frames).

*While we would be more than happy to fabricate whatever profile is necessary for your project, some restrictions apply to fire rated frames. Our sales team can advise you of your options with regard to fire rated profiles.
