Announcing hollow metal doors with integral louvers

That's right – airflow, beauty and style all in one door, and all in one purchase order.

You told us you didn't want to go to more than one place to get door louvers, so we have put everything together for you.

We use jetcoat material on all our louvers, assuring you of the same quality that you get with your Door Components hollow metal doors.

Integral louvers, and optional insect screens, are available for the following door offerings: honeycomb, polystyrene core, and steel stiffened.

As with all Door Components products, we specialize in custom orders and rapid delivery. And every Door Components product is 100% American made.

ABOUT DOOR COMPONENTS

Since opening our doors in 1981, Door Components Inc. has manufactured custom hollow metal doors and frames, as well as a full line of quality hollow metal products. We are honored to provide products for some of the most prestigious building projects in the United States and overseas.
